

THE PEOPLE BEHIND YOUR PLATE

with

Cosmas
Damian

and

Colby

Working with family and being around great food are common interests for brothers, Cosmas and Damian, and their cousin Colby. They enjoy the familiarity of working with parents, aunts and uncles along with the fun they have while being at work. Colby, son of Liz Prichard, mentions a lot of pestering occurs when you get family together, but he wouldn't have it any other way. They all recognize the special dynamic they have at Roseanna's.

"It feels more personal and comfortable, and it also feels unique in some aspects," says Cosmas, son of Peter Prichard.

Damian, who began working in 2015, also enjoys the feeling of getting to help out his family in any way he can and getting to talk with family members during his shifts.

All three work as busboys during the week. However, Colby, who started in 2000, has experience in other areas of the operation as well. He has been the fry cook and handled the bread station.

Busboys are in charge of getting those dishes squeaky clean, cleaning tables for the next guests, assembling salads, making ranch dressing, and then cleaning up at the end of each night.

To make ranch dressing, they gather three ingredients.

"One jug of mayo goes into the mixing bowl, then two jugs of buttermilk and finally two packets of ranch mix. Then it's all whisked together," explains Cosmas, who started at Roseanna's in 2012.

After it has been chilled, it is ready for the customers' plate!

All of that hard work will work up an appetite, and these three have different views on what is the best dish. Fried shrimp, spaghetti and steak are Cosmas' top picks, but Colby sticks with lasagna.

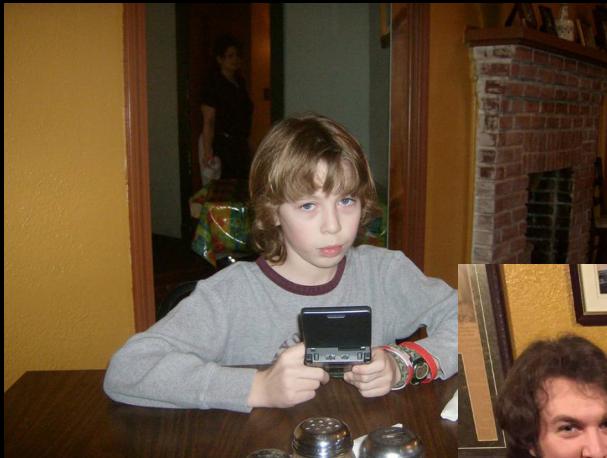

"I'd have to pick the Steak and Pepper sandwich," said Damian.

As for the cheesecake, Colby keeps it simple with Plain. Cosmas goes for the Cinnamon roll while Damian prefers Blueberry.

Food and fun play a big part in their love of Roseanna's, but the history is what keeps their pride in their work. Knowing the hardships and hard work their family faced to get it up and running makes Colby grateful for what they have left behind.

Just like the rest of their family, carrying on the legacy of Rose Ann and Frank means a lot to these three. Damian said it feels nice to tell people what Roseanna's is and that he gets to work there.

"I want to make sure that myself or someone else in my family carries on their original dream in some way, shape, or form so their memory will always persevere," said Cosmas.

Cosmas

Damian

